Transportation: Getting From Here...

Before trains, cars, and airplanes existed, rivers were used for travel – carrying people and goods from one place to another. The “Elsie D” steamboat, owned by the Durkee Family, is seen moored along the Connecticut River, circa 1890.

In The 1940s

In April of 1945, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt made an appearance in Keene to give a speech. Two days later, her husband and President of the United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt, collapsed and died of a cerebral hemorrhage while sitting for a portrait. On the same day, Vice President Harry Truman took the oath of office as the next president of the United States.

There was much jubilation on Central Square in Keene on August 14th as the church bells tolled and whistles blew at local factories to celebrate the end of World War II.

Parking meters were installed in 1947. Retailers loved the meters, as they encouraged a quick turnover of cars and potential customers. To this day, meters are still a necessity for regulating parking.
